[For the Alexandria Gazette. Parsonage Papers-No. 2. BY REV. DR. KILLGORE, Pastor of the M. tho-

dist Protestant Church, Alexandria, Va. THE SABBATH.

"The Sabbath was made for man." - Rible. We will notice the Sabbath under the designation of Patriarchal, Jewish, and Christian.

PATRIARCHAL SABBATH. 1. The world remained beautiful while its age was reckoned by days. Bright was the sun on the morning of his third rising; and on the seventh from the beginning, creation was finished. Sea, and earth, and air had become tenanted; flocks reclined, herds roamed, birds sang, and the happy pair in the garden chanted the highest and sweetest notes; happiness was written on every living thing. This was man's first day, and the world's first Sabbath.

The event made the day—made it for man—for man in the aggregate—for all men—for innocent man. Man was made to labor, and needed rest; not rest in opposition to weariness, but rest in opposition to action. Jehovah rested. To dress the garden, and to keep it, was the pleasing task assigned to man. To train the flower, to support the fruit, to adapt luxuriant redundancy, and gather his harvest, might be all that was intended; but man was destined for Heaven, and needed time to acquire tastes and sympa thies in harmony with that higher state. From the beginning the Sabbath was a day blessed and sanctified—a religious day. Man alone could comprehend the sublimity of such an arrangement. It is still a religious day; it yet prepares for Heaven; it relieves the spirit from the magnet of worldliness and directs it to its native sky. It puts a check on the butifying process, and holds man in his place in creation. It represses the sensual, and cherishes the higher tendencies of our nature. It induces the sacrifice of present gratification for future good. It calls aloud for holiness to the Lord. It was a day of religious commemoration: it celebrata day of religious commemoration: it celebrated creation—creation finished, the Sabbath began. Glorious object! blessed institution! what IT IS IMPOSSIBLE IT IS IMPOSSIBLE a world of earth and sky! what a manifestation IT IS IMPOSSIBLE of wisdom, power, and goodness! how befitting was the institution for God to appoint and man

"The prospect mountain of the mind, From which to view the rest of Heaven."

We tell the lovers of pleasure and the competitors of commerce that the Sabbath was made for man in all his generations, in all his tribes, and in all his circumstances.-Why do they insist that the book of Genesis contains a history extending over FASHIONABLE TAILORS. more than two thousand years, and reports no Sabbath? Supposing the statement to be true, what argument can be deduced from mere silence? But is it so? We think not. That book reports a day of rest-a sanctified day, and at the time, too, that creation was finished. Why do men wish to part the day of celebra-tion from the event celebrated? If the day was made for man, how reasonable to suppose that it was made for the first man! But supposing it could be shown that the books of Joshua and Judges report no Sabbath, though they contain a history of four hundred years after the Sabbath was instituted in the wilderness; and supposing that it could be shown that there is no report of sacrifice from the birth of Seth to the time of the flood, a period of fifteen hundred years, would such silence beadmitted as an argument against the existence of such institutions? Certainly not. But is there not a report of weeks in the early Scriptures, (Gen. xxix. 27) answering to the creation week of six days of labor and one of rest? We can account for the institution of years, months, and days, by natural causes, but not of weeks; nor can we account for them at all but by the Sabbath. Noah sent forth the dove three successive times, and waited seven days between each time, doubtless, in deference to the Sabbath. The Israelites, Assyrians, Egyptians, Indians, Arabians, and, indeed, all the nations in the east have, in all ages, made use of a week of seven days; so have the Romans, Gauls, Britons, Germans, and all the nations of the north. They possessed some reason, in common, for this arrangement. Moses is the oldest writer that we have any knowledge of, and he has given the reason not as an invention of his time, but as having existed from the begin-

Seven is a number of perfection among the Jews, and the Hebrew word which is rendered seven, denotes fulness, completion, &c., alluding, we think, to the finished work of Creation. We do not wish to establish a septenary theory of interpretation; but how, on the principle of accident, do we account for the frequent appointment of that number? God rested on the seventh day; Euoch, the seventh from Adam, was translated; the killing of Cain was to be avenged sevenfold; Noah had seven day's warning of the flood, and was commanded to take fowls into the Ark by sevens; Abraham gave seven ewe lambs to Abimelech, as a token of agreement for a will; Joseph mourned seven days for Jacob; the seven years of plenty and the seven years of famine were foretold by a vision of seven fat and seven lean cattle, and by seven full and seven blighted ears of corn; the seventh year was sabbatical, and at the end of seven times seven years the jubilee com-menced. We also read of seven churches, seven epistles, seven golden candlesticks, seven stars, seven lamps, seven spirits of God, seven seals, the lamb with seven horns and seven eyes, seven angels, seven trumpets, seven kings, seven thunders, seven thousand names of the slain, the dragon with seven heads, seven crowns. Forgiveness to an offender was to be repeated seven times, "yea, even seventy times seven."

In 1868, after the defeat and death of Theodore, King of Abyssinia, a son of his, captured at Magdala, was brought to England, kindly received by Queen Victoria, and placed under the care of Captain Speed, to whom his mother had confided him before her death, which soon followed that of her husband. When his guardian went to India the lad accompanied him, but has since returned to England, Captain Speed remaining in India. The young prince has been sent to school at Cheltenham, and it is said that the English Government intends to use him in future negotiations for his papa's kingdom.

Reflect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisites to promote connubial happiness, Indeed, without these the journey through life becomes a weary pilgrimage, the prospect hourly darkens to the view, the mind becomes shadowed with despair, and filled with the melancholy reflection that the happiness of another is blighted with our own.

DISEASE OF IMPRUDENCE. Whea e misguided and imprudent votary of pleasure inds that he has imbibed the seeds of this pain all disease, it too often happens that an ill-times ense of shame or dread of discovery deters him from applying to those who, from educa-tion and respectability, can alone befriend him, delaying till the constitutional symptoms of this horrid disease makes their appearance, such as ulcerated sore throat, diseased nose, nocturnal pains in the head and limbs, dimness of sight, deafness, nodes on the shin bones and arms, blotches on the head, face and extremities, progressing with frightful rapidity, till at last the palate of the mouth or the bones of the nose fall in, and the victim of this awful disease becomes a horrid object of commisseration till death puts a period to his dreadful suffering, by sending him to that undiscovered country "from whence no traveller returns." whence no traveller returns."

It is a melancholy fact that thousands DIk victims to this terrible disease, through falling into the hands of ignorant or unskiful PRK-TENDERS, who, by the use of that deadly Poison, Mercury, &c., destroy the consitution, and incapable of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer month after month taking their noxious injurious comprounds, and instead of heing reinjurious compounds, and instead of being re-stored to a renewal of Life, Vigorand Happiness in despair leave him with ruined Health to sigh over his galling disappointment.
